

The International Co-operative Alliance is an independent, non-governmental association which unites, represents and serves co-operatives worldwide. Founded in 1895, it has 249 member organisations from 93 countries active in all sectors of the economy.

Co-operative and Community-led Regeneration Partnerships

ICA Housing is one of the eight sectors of the International Co-operative Alliance. It was established to promote the development of co-operative housing in all countries as an economic and social contribution to the problem of providing shelter.

Türkkent, the Central Union of Turkish Urban Co-operatives, is the biggest central union of housing construction and production co-operatives in Turkey. Founded in 1988, TÜRKKENT's aims are to protect housing co-operatives; to assist in the fulfillment of housing co-operatives' goals and increase their productivity; to contribute to sustainable development of urban housing co-operatives and the movement.

International Co-operative Alliance Housing Organisation & Türkkent İstanbul Symposium: 28-29 June 2011

It is with great pleasure that Türkkent and ICA Housing invite housing co-operators, housing experts, government officials and politicians to this one-day Symposium.

Türkkent, the Central Co-operative Housing Union of Turkey, and ICA Housing, the global Housing Sector Organisation of the International Co-operative Alliance have joined forces to offer you an inspiring and informative Symposium which will explore how national, regional and local governments can work constructively with the communities they serve to regenerate urban communities in partnership with co-operatives and community based organisations.

Sustainable development is the priority of the day. Secure, attractive and viable places and neighbourhoods to live and prosper in are what citizens and governments aspire to create. The Symposium will explore how citizens and governments can creatively work together and apply co-operative principles and ideals to participate successfully in the regeneration of urban settlements and rise to the challenge of creating communities in cities of the future that are socially, economically and environmentally sustainable.

Guided by knowledgeable academics and down-to-earth practitioners, the Symposium seeks to provide to the participants examples of successful regeneration projects as well as ideas for the Sustainable City of the Future, taking as an exemplar the regeneration of Freiburg, the winner of the European City of the year 2010.

ICA Housing and Türkkent look forward to welcoming you to this symposium.

Yours sincerely

Successful Community Led Regeneration Projects

Successful community led regeneration projects already exist. They are the result of constructive partnerships between citizens and decision-making authorities.

This one-day Symposium will present several case studies where housing co-operatives have worked successfully with government partners for the benefits of their communities and globally for the creation of sustainable urban settlements. Participants will be challenged to reflect on and discuss ways they can actively promote and implement sustainable urban development.
